

I have a strong skill set related to platform engineering and can code in many modern programming languages including Python, Raku, GoLang, Ruby, Powershell, Perl and Bash.

I am the author of many open source automation frameworks.

I can do system design and implement existing solutions.

I am very systematic and attentive to details. I love document my code in simple and comprehensive manner.

Overall I am able to find a good balance between design, efficiency and code quality.