I have a strong skill set related to platform engineering and can code in many modern languages including Python, Raku, GoLang, Ruby, Powershell, Perl and Bash.

I am the author of many open source automation frameworks.

I can do system design too. I am systematic and attentive to details.
I am able to find a good balance between design, efficiency and code quality.